Boys & Girls Clubs of the Midlands Youth of the Year, Maccaiah D.

Maccaiah D., Youth of the Year

Maccaiah D., a member of the Hawkins Family Westside Boys & Girls Club, has been honored as both the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Midlands Youth of the Year and the Nebraska State Youth of the Year. As the Midlands representative, she now advances to the regional competition in Chicago. This next round will showcase her public speaking, essay writing and community engagement before a panel of judges, with the opportunity to earn further scholarships and climb toward the national stage.

Why WoodmenLife Supports Youth of the Year, from Tyler Lawrence

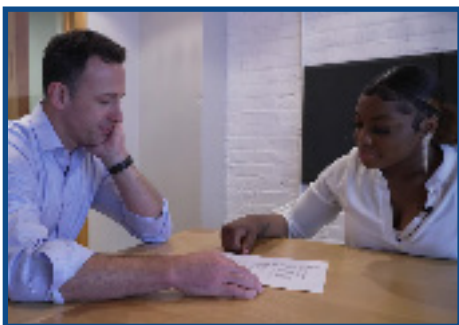

There's nothing more powerful than watching young people grow in confidence, and that's what makes the Boys & Girls Clubs' Youth of the Year program so impactful. From the first meeting to the final event, every step of the journey builds self-worth, encourages self-expression and nurtures the courage to share personal stories. This program isn't just about recognition—it's about transformation.

At WoodmenLife, our commitment to family, community, and country has guided us since 1890, making our partnership with the Boys & Girls Clubs a natural extension of our mission. The Youth of the Year program aligns with our values of encouragement, opportunity and support. Each year, associates—including leaders like Regional Director Tyler Lawrence—volunteer to mentor and uplift participants. For us, Youth of the Year is more than a program—it's a testament to the resilience and potential of our future leaders.

Youth of the Year Builds Future Community Leaders, from Eric Chandler

Eric Chandler with Youth of the Year Cherish G.

We are incredibly proud and deeply grateful to be part of the Youth of the Year program. Our family has been involved with Boys & Girls Clubs of the Midlands for many years, so I've long understood the powerful impact the Club has—not only on the children it serves but on our entire community. Still, having Chandler Conway Law serve as a Youth Champion sponsor has taken our connection to a new level. It has given Sean and me the opportunity to build meaningful relationships with future community leaders and see firsthand the profound difference the Club makes in their lives.
